SHE Academy 2020 – First announcement

Do you want to know more health literacy in School Health Promotion?

Then sign up for the SHE Academy 2020 to be held at the University of Maastricht in the Netherlands.

The SHE Academy is a unique opportunity to critically discuss research methodologies, analytical perspectives and dilemmas from practice in an international learning environment, with input by leading scholars and experts from the field of school-based health promotion and education.

This is the eighth course organized by the Schools for Health in Europe Network Foundation. This year the focus is: Health Literacy.

The SHE Academy will be organized in a dynamic and flexible way, to meet the interests and needs of the participants with varied experience, needs and fields of interests. The program will be structured around plenary lectures, dialogue and group sessions for all participants and a range of parallel workshops, for PhD students, researchers and practitioners respectively. PhD students will have an opportunity to present their research work in smaller groups and get focused feedback on selected issues of their choice (e.g. methodology, data generation, data analysis, health literacy, implications, recommendations). Other participants, researchers and practitioners, will also be able to present their research and / or practice case studies and get feedback.

The SHE Academy is a collaboration between University of Maastricht, and SHE in collaboration with University College South Denmark.
